

THE PENDULUM SOCIETY NEWSLETTER (JULY 2022)

July's heat is on. Welcoming Independence Day!

Inflation is crazy, Roe v. Wade is overturned, countries are still at war, kitten season is in full swing, and I am struggling buying enough food for all our hungry mouths. Then add the beautiful fireworks displays, wonderful smells of summer carnivals. Fried dough, pies, and vegetables are definitely tough for the vendors and hungry customers this year.

Another local farm was bought by a developer for millions of dollars. He will be putting another 550,000 square foot warehouse. Restaurants can't even fill their staff positions let alone shop locally here anymore.

Fans for the Less Fortunate is under way. We have many more people requesting help. We need volunteers, I racked the thumbs and can't grasp anything. If you have $20 to spare send it in. Every bit that you donate goes a long way. Your donations are what makes all this work and remember no one on this board takes a paycheck. (Yes, Mr. Banker stop complaining)

Globally, famine will hit this late fall into winter. Farmers can't sustain the costs and those with less will be effected the hardest. When you understand that as we are global plural society what goes on in one country has direct impacts in another. I watch oligarchs play for power and riches using peoples lives. How we treat the less fortunate is what is written in history and ultimately our downfall.

Whew... then my brother sent my summer reading list. My family loves history, learning new things, and thinking outside the box. Twenty minutes a day.

My grandson has challenged me to chess, and I am super excited. If you have never played, start. It's a game of decisions, thinking 15 moves ahead. You will begin to notice your brain starts to get happy. It's being used. Everything we do changes things. The "Butterfly Effect."

We all have had bad chapters in our lives. Never let it stop your story. Make yourself worthy of a great read. Even if your dust cover is tattered and torn. Create, learn, grown. Step outside of your comfort zone.

I can't do it alone. I need all of you to take this journey with me and The Pendulum Society.

Always,

Ms. Kitty

I loathe the when people state the abuse made them stronger and that's who they are today. I'm sorry. You were robbed...your peace, your value, your heart. You were weakened. Man or women. No one has the right to hurt you. We don't build on sand here. After dealing with insurance companies, lobbyists, and laying down UNBREAKABLE privacy rules. We are built of sterner stuff. You may not be able to stand up for yourself. We can stand with you. We have moved mountains to create a safe realm for you to rebuild. We need an attorney, and a counselor. Please PM Doc too.

NATURE PROVIDES...

HOW MUCH IS THIS WORTH... TO YOU?

Farms provide rain runoff, creeks to play and fish in. Our way of life is in danger. We need local sourced organic food to serve our community is a much needed opportunity in our area.

Renting out plots for those in the city or wish to learn what to grow for canning, the possibilities all lead to less traffic, and more good stinky smells.

The people in the new development are complaining about the smells of the neighboring farm, I asked if they viewed the property before they purchased it. They said, "Yes." I shook my head and walked away.

TREAT ALL PEOPLES WITH RESPECT AND COMPASSION...

For all the problems that America has, we are still a freedom loving people. Thank you France for our beautiful lady. Her torch glows bright for the world to see.

Let us find peace and joy. Let your Faith guide you to compassion for those less fortunate, passion to volunteer, and love with your whole heart.

Celebrate the love and gifts of gratitude!

Always,

The Pendulum Society

HOMES, MANY, MANY HOMES ARE IN NEED...

It is kitten season. There are quality places like FURR that are in desperate need of foster parents. We have 70 kittens that need attention. Please spay and neuter your pets. There are many places that offer free/low cost services by qualified vets. Send your vet a thank you card for all the free services they provide to organizations like ours. These animals only know that you are their whole world. Some will get lucky, some spend their life in the shelter, some die of a broken heart. The Pendulum Society makes a sizable donation and have a huge drive headed by Director Leah. We regularly put out notice for what the shelters request and post on our Facebook page furry kids that need adopted. Make sure you do the homework, and can make the lifelong commitment to adopt. Vet bills, food trips, time, more time, and boundless love. Some animals have been abandoned, injured, or have lost the will to thrive. All they need is lots of love and understanding. Please donate. We are in the works for an informational video with some fabulous folks to see how to make the furry kids lives better.

My name is Nate Moran and I was once a homeless veteran on the streets of NYC. For two years I slept in doorways, park benches, trains and subways. Anywhere I felt safe from the dangers of the streets.

Ever since then, many doors have been opened and blessings have been coming my way. I am very grateful. And my mission is to pay it forward and to give hope when people feel that there is none. So I have adopted the Never Give Up phrase as my logo in the hopes of giving people the inspiration to keep going and not get weary. Just when you think it's totally hopeless a blessing will always come through.
